This document provides partners with the assets they need to promote their participation in National Voter Registration Day through traditional media and social media. The assets featured in this toolkit should be deployed at different stages throughout the campaign leading up to September 24, 2019. Additionally, it should be noted that this document features suggested copy. Partners are encouraged to tailor it for their target audience(s).
Key Messaging: Are You #VoteReady?

Introduction and Overview
Our democracy works best when more citizens show up and participate, which makes our election results more representative of what we, the people, want. Put simply, we’re all better off when our elections reflect everyone in our community. One of the best ways to do that is to ensure that every eligible American is registered to vote, regardless of party affiliation or other views – because if we let democracy itself get thrown under the bus of partisan politics, we all lose.

That’s the motivation behind the organizers of National Voter Registration Day – a single day of coordinated media and field actions across the country to raise awareness of voter registration opportunities and register as many eligible voters as possible. National Voter Registration Day, held on the fourth Tuesday of September – September 24, 2019, is supported by election officials from both sides of the aisle along with every major association of election officials in the country.

You’re here because we have a problem to solve: Every year, millions of eligible voters are unable to cast a ballot because of a missed registration deadline, outdated registration information, or other problems with their voter registration. Potential voters are caught in a vicious cycle that sees unregistered citizens become non-voters who are then ignored by political campaigns which, in turn, leaves them uninterested in the electoral process.

In the presidential election of 2016, 60 million people – or one in four eligible voters in the country – were unregistered, over half of which were never ASKED for their votes by political campaigns. For communities already underrepresented in the electorate, the numbers were abysmal – those in the Latino, Asian and Black communities saw lagging participation with high numbers of unregistered voters at 30%, 27% and 17% respectively.

How do we begin to address these issues? Simple: we must make sure that the citizenry is “vote ready.” The same way we are reminded to change the batteries in our smoke alarms, rotate our tires and floss daily, we are the ones ensuring that the electorate is in peak form to participate in the next election. And people cannot participate if they haven’t registered to vote or if their registration is in question. That’s where you come in! Join thousands of partners this September 24 who go into the communities they serve to ensure they are “vote ready” by setting up tables and meeting face-to-face with the people to get them registered!

Since 2012, nearly 2.5 million voters have registered or updated their registration as a result of National Voter Registration Day events since 2012. In 2019, we aim to build on that success and help over 200,000 eligible voters get registered for the first time or update their existing registration.
Be #VoteReady

With so much energy already going toward 2020, it’s easy to ask “is 2019 really important?” Short answer: Yes, it is. This November will see federal, state and local elections from across the nation – all of which will have immediate effects on the communities you serve. Part of the task this year is reminding the electorate that casting a vote this November will hit closer to home than any election in 2020. From budgeting for education, new construction, and roads all the way down to how and when your trash is collected – the men and women running in the many gubernatorial and mayoral races will be handed great power to determine major factors about everyday life. In short, this isn’t an “off-year” election, this is a “close-to-home” election – a responsibility no one should be sitting out of.

As nonprofits, it’s our job to ensure our communities are prepared or that responsibility. More than elected officials or lawmakers, it’s up to us to make sure they eligible citizens are “vote ready.” First, that means making sure they are properly registered to vote – whether that means a new registration or updating an existing one – which is the focus of September 24. But being “vote ready” isn’t just about registration. Knowing where your polling place is, what issues are on the ballot, understanding candidate positions – all of this goes into being “Vote Ready.” So on National Voter Registration Day, as you go out into the communities you serve – on-the-ground and online – be sure to sound the horn and ask the question: “Are You #VoteReady?”

Who:

National Voter Registration Day is supported by a broad spectrum of organizations from across the political spectrum, including Secretaries of State, state and local elections administrators, major nonprofits and nonprofit networks, schools and universities, libraries, technology firms, and other civically-conscious businesses across America.

Take Action:

[Action steps change by time frame]

Month Before Message:

Month Before Message: Make sure community you serve is #VoteReady by getting your university, library, nonprofit, government agency, or business to sign up as a National Voter Registration Day partner at https://nationalvoterregistrationday.org/partner-2019-sign-up/

• All partners will have access to online tools and resources for their local efforts. Partners who sign up by September 10 will also receive complementary posters and stickers.

Day Of Message:

• If you’ve recently moved, turned 18, or changed your name you may not be #VoteReady! Take this opportunity to update your voter registration at www.NationalVoterRegistrationDay.org/register-to-vote/ [feel free to substitute your organization’s own registration tool here]
All partners are encouraged to use the official National Voter Registration Day hashtag – #NationalVoterRegistrationDay – across their social media accounts.

Tweets and Instagram photos with #NationalVoterRegistrationDay will appear on www.NationalVoterRegistrationDay.org in one of two feeds. Keep posts nonpartisan and pro-democracy please. Additionally, National Voter Registration Day operates branded accounts on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and Reddit.

Website

At www.NationalVoterRegistrationDay.org, individuals and organizations can leverage a voter registration tool, a field toolkit to plan National Voter Registration Day events, communications and promotional materials, and an event registry that will list hundreds of National Voter Registration Day events taking place around the country.

National Voter Registration Day will also use a short URL created through Google – http://goo.gl/e07Li3 – to develop tweets within the 280-character Twitter limit.

Facebook

The National Voter Registration Day Facebook page engages users by making them aware of resources and activities surrounding National Voter Registration Day. Make sure to promote National Voter Registration Day’s Facebook event page and ask your supporters to join. To ensure consistency, the National Voter Registration Day Facebook handle is:

https://www.facebook.com/NatlVoterRegDay

Twitter

The National Voter Registration Day Twitter handle engages partner organizations in conversations about National Voter Registration Day, promoting increased social media activity on behalf of our partners. We also engage individual users tweeting about voter registration to push them towards the National Voter Registration Day website to take action. The National Voter Registration Day Twitter handle is:

@NatlVoterRegDay

Four Weeks Out – August 27, 2019

Announce Participation

Partners can announce and promote their participation in National Voter Registration Day by taking the following actions:

- Create and promote your National Voter Registration Day events. Create a National Voter Registration Day event on the website’s event registry (www.NationalVoterRegistrationDay.org/events), then promote the link through your organization’s communications channels.

- Send an email to your membership lists. Announcing your participation in National Voter Registration Day or sending out tools for your affiliates or chapters to use for promotion. You can find a sample email in the “Resource” section of this packet.

- Promote your participation. We’ve included materials on the website you can print to rally support on the ground. It is also a good time for your first press release and to begin social media promotion. A sample press release and social media posts can be found in the “Resources” section of this packet.

- Contact influencers. Utilizing the #NationalVoterRegistrationDay hashtag, reach out to influencers with the “influencer ask letter” and invite them to participate using the hashtag on September 24.

Three Weeks Out – September 3, 2019

Promote Your National Voter Registration Day Event

National Voter Registration Day partners can create or find event listings on the National Voter Registration Day website. Here’s how:

To find an event or to create an event for National Voter Registration Day, visit www.NationalVoterRegistrationDay.org/events

Using the National Voter Registration Day events directory has many benefits, among them being:

- Potential voters can easily find an event in their community to register to vote.
- Potential volunteers can find an event and contact the person(s) planning it to offer a few hours of community service.
- Partners can promote their event(s) directly from the events directory.
Two Weeks Out – September 10, 2019

Promote Your National Voter Registration Day Event & Registering to Vote

Messages in this period will begin to dramatically increase in frequency and the sense of urgency around upcoming National Voter Registration Day events. At this point, a direct call to register to vote will be more prominently featured than at previous points in this communications timeline.

- Remind your membership lists. Send another email to remind people about events you are hosting. This is a good time for you to recruit volunteers and make sure everyone knows all the specifics about your activities. A sample email is provided in the “Resources” section of this packet.

- Continue your social media push. Keep your followers informed of upcoming events through social media. It is important for them to hear about your activities over time leading up to National Voter Registration Day. By reminding them, they become more likely to participate.

- Follow up with influencers. Remind them that the event is just two weeks away, and ensure the date is on their social media calendars for September 24. Share new press and updates that have come out to get them excited about supporting.

One Week Out – September 17, 2019

The Final Push

The final push towards September 24 should consist of frequent, daily postings to social media and repeated calls to register to vote.

- Alert the media again. Send another press release or media alert similar to the one from the previous week. Including new information is not necessary, but you want to make sure they have the details they need. Many times, these documents can be overlooked the first time, so think of this as a friendly reminder to these outlets.

- Increase social media posts. As you near your event, is important for your audience to be aware of what you are planning. Review our sample social media posts for ideas of how you can keep your followers engaged on Facebook and Twitter. Remember to promote your specific events and voter registration in general.

- Follow up with influencers. Remind them that the event is just two weeks away, and ensure the date is on their social media calendars for September 24. Share new press and updates that have come out to get them excited about supporting.
September 24, 2019

Flood social and traditional media and your communities with everything about National Voter Registration Day.

• Spread the word about National Voter Registration Day. Last year our hashtag trended on Twitter due to the high number of social media posts. Let’s make #NationalVoterRegistrationDay trend this year. We have provided sample posts for both Facebook and Twitter in order to provide a consistent message the day of and to allow for greater exposure.

• Invite your membership lists to your event. This is your last chance to let people know about your event and get them to come out for it. It is also important to make sure they register to vote today, so be sure to share the link to the voter registration tool on the website. A sample email is available in the “Resources” section.

• Push your event to the public. Send out a final media alert to ensure that your event is getting the coverage it needs. This is the best way to reach out to the general public beyond your regular distribution lists. A sample media alert can be found in the “Resources” section.

• Know your stuff. Review the talking points included in the introduction of the packet. It is likely that you will be asked questions by the media and general public at your event, so make sure you are well versed about National Voter Registration Day.
Social Media Posts

The following are sample social media posts to share leading up to the campaign. Posts can be modified and customized to fit your organization’s needs, but we recommend that you always provide a link to our website and include the hashtag #NationalVoterRegistrationDay. Under “Resources” and “Partner Toolkit” on the website, we have also provided graphics you can share.

Dear [ORGANIZATION NAME] supporter,

We’re excited to once again be part of a national effort to strengthen our community by registering hundreds of voters on September 24, 2019, also known as National Voter Registration Day.

First started for the 2012 presidential election, National Voter Registration Day has become a 50-state holiday where thousands of organizations and volunteers organize to ensure our family, friends, and neighbors are registered to vote.

Why register in 2019, you may ask? Because between the House, the Senate and governor races across the country, voters have the opportunity to decide the fate of over 500 elected officials. As a nonpartisan coalition of organizations, National Voter Registration Day is the perfect opportunity to get involved no matter what party you support or which issues matter most to you.

I invite you to register to vote and learn more at www.NationalVoterRegistrationDay.org and use #NationalVoterRegistrationDay on social media to spread the word!

Once you’re registered to vote, there’s a lot of other ways you can get involved:

• Join [ORGANIZATION NAME] at one of our National Voter Registration Day events.
• Step up to host your own local event with your family, friends, and neighbors to make sure everyone you know is registered.
• Get reminders via email or text message so you don’t forget September 24 is the big day!

We’re really excited to be able to join hundreds of groups across America for this important national holiday. Thanks so much for your support!

Sincerely,
